NINE PERSONS KILLED

By the Collapse of an Eight Story Building in New York.

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS ALLEGED

The Outer Walls of the Big Building Had Just Been Completed—It Carried Down the Sleeping Inmates of a Two Story Building Adjoining.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—While the storm was at its height, just before 4 o'clock yesterday morning, a new eight story building at 74 Monroe street collapsed, bringing down with it the house at 72 Monroe street and the rear extension of the building on the other side, No. 76. Both places were filled with sleeping tenants, who were buried under the tremendous mass of ruins. The crash of the falling walls aroused the neighbors, who, scantily clad, began the work of rescue, which was continued well into the day by police and firemen. They mined far under the bricks and beams and mortar, and from out of the ruins they took the dead and injured.

The dead are: I. I. Abrams, 40 years old; Mrs. Bessie Abrams, aged 40, wife of I. I. Abrams; Rose Abrams, 18, daughter of I. I. and Mrs. Bessie Abrams; Mrs. Bertha Karones, 30 years, board driven into abdomen; Abraham Karones, her son, 9 years old; Solomon Karones, aged 21; Mrs. Jennie Steinman, aged 60; Meyer Steinman, her son, aged 31.

In addition to the above seventeen persons were injured more or less severely, half a dozen having limbs broken.

The building had been finished externally at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when the last nail in the roof was driven. As soon as the workmen completed their job they helped the owners deck it with flags, in accordance with the east side custom, had a little celebration with beer on the new roof, and went away well satisfied. Yesterday the interior was to have been worked on.

Early in the morning a watchman, Walter Bryan, was standing at Pike and Monroe streets. He said he had been watching a phosphorescent light in the sky right over the new building when, like a stroke of black lightning, as he put it, he saw the wall split from the roof to the ground. In a moment the building had vanished and the street was filled with dust and the air with wild cries.

The building had crashed down upon a two story dwelling, No. 72, carrying the smaller structure to the ground, a mass of debris. Out of the wall of the dwelling No. 70 Monroe street the falling structure carried away enough material to leave the third story rooms exposed. The people in them ran out in dismay, but were not at all injured.

As the neighbors ran to the scene figures were seen squirming out of the mass of bricks and mortar. The first to get out was Michael Kroner. Others of his family followed, but all had to be helped out. When all in sight were got out, groans were heard in certain places, and here the crowd dug away to save the buried. Four in the west were extricated soon or less injured, in a short time. Then the firemen arrived and went to work systematically to extricate the bodies of the dead and rescue the living.

One by one the dead were carried out and laid in the midst of the frantic group of relatives of the little house, No. 72, to be identified. They were expecting to see their relatives dead, for they had been gathered and counted, and it was known who were not to be found.

The new building had been erected by A. B. Aaronwitz, proprietor of a foundry about a block away. Aaronwitz was arrested and arraigned before Justice Hogan in Essex Market police court. In spite of the fact that Aaronwitz was charged with homicide Justice Hogan discharged him.

He, however, issued subpœnas for Aaronwitz and David A. Molski, the contractor who put up the building, to appear before him this afternoon and explain what their responsibility, if any, was for the disaster.

The structure, it is alleged by Thomas Brady, whose family occupied the rear of No. 76, was weak, and he says that he had made complaints about it to the building inspector, but that no attention had been paid to them.

Other neighbors assert that one story was built pretty well, but the costs seemed to have mounted too high, after which less expensive material than cement was used. No reliance can be placed on these stories as yet, however, because all witnesses were excited and indignant. They were too anxious to find somebody to hold guilty.

Maltreated by Masked Burglars.

ALLIANCE, O., Oct. 11.—During the night two masked men battered down the door in the residence of Elias Henderson, a wealthy resident of Limaville, five miles north of this city, before Henderson could get out of bed, and had him covered with revolvers. They demanded $2,500, which Henderson had received on Monday from the sale of property, and compelled Mrs. Henderson to open the safe in the room. The money, however, had been deposited in a bank. The burglars got only $50 and some jewelry. Henderson, who has been in poor health, was so maltreated that he cannot live.

THE INVASION OF CHINA.

Forty Thousand Japanese Troops Landed Near Shan Hai Kwan.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 11.—Various local rumors are in circulation, the most prominent being that 40,000 Japanese troops have landed near Shen Hai Kwan, on the boundary between the Chinese provinces of Manchuria and Chi Li, at the eastern end of the great wall which traverses China. Shan Hai Kwan is directly on the railroad being built from Tientsin to Moukden, and is of great strategic importance. In fact, the opinion has been expressed that if Shan Hai Kwan is captured there is nothing to prevent the Japanese from marching on Pekin. A Japanese fleet was reported to have been sighted off Shan Hai Kwan on Sept. 28.

A report, which is classed here as unreliable, says that the Japanese have effected a landing near New Chwang, Gulf of Leao Ton.

According to a letter received here from Tientsin, during the progress of a large fire there on Friday last the China merchants' Gotown volunteers protected the settlement, and are now patroling the streets from sunset to sunshine.

It is reported here that several Japanese warships have been sighted off Takuar.

A dispatch received here from Tientsin states that the British and Russian ministers have arrived there and that they will proceed at once to Pekin.

Another report reaches this city that after a skirmish, which took place north of the Yalu river on Tuesday, the Japanese outposts were driven back across the river.

Advices received here from Port Arthur say that the repairs to the Chinese fleet which was engaged in the battle off the Yalu river have been completed, and that the fleet proceeded to sea yesterday.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—A dispatch dated Berlin alleges that China has asked Germany to use her good offices to terminate the war with Japan. The reported capture of Che Foo by the Japanese is confirmed.

The Funeral of Dr. Holmes.

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—The funeral services over the body of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes were held at King's chapel. There was a considerable representation of the literary friends of the poet, but, partly because of the inclement weather, partly because it was the expressed wish of the family that the services should be as quiet and simple as possible, the public remained away, and the chapel was only half filled. The services consisted of a few recitations from the scripture by Dr. Hale and musical selections sung by the quartet. There was no eulogy. The interment was at Mt. Auburn.

Ex-Governor Curtin's Funeral.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 11.—This town was draped in mourning yesterday in honor of the memory of ex-Governor Andrew Gregg Curtin. At 12 o'clock the ex-governor's body was borne from the family residence to the court house, where it remained until 1:30, thousands of people viewing it while it lay in state. The body was then taken back to the Gregg mansion, where, at 2 o'clock, the funeral services were held. At the tomb services were conducted by Gregg Post No 65 G. A. R.

Brutal Treatment of a Boy.

BUFFALO, Oct. 11.—A boy who said his name was William Clark and his home Philadelphia, was taken out of a freight car at East Buffalo in a starving condition. He said he ran away from home, and went to the Erie freight yards in Jersey City to ask for work. A man threw him into the car and told him it was going to Buffalo, where there was plenty of work. He was forty hours on the road, without food or water. He will recover.

Railroad Stations Robbed.

VINITA, I. T., Oct. 11.—Three men robbed the express agent at Chouteau, taking two mail bags, what money the agent had and his express money order book. Ten or eleven persons in the station were also robbed. The robbers were not masked, and it is said that they were all Indians. They are supposed to belong to the Cook gang. Robbers also held up the Missouri Pacific station agent at Claremore and got about $50.

Three Killed, Three Fatally Injured.

QUEBEC, Oct. 11.—George Desbieus of St. Anne de Beaupre, Louis Lessard of St. Joachim, and A. Guerin of Baie St. Paul, were killed, Brakeman Leo Lambert, fatally injured, and two men named La France, of St. Anne and Gagnon St. Joachim, are reported dying as the result of a railway accident yesterday on the Quebec, Montmerency and Charlevoix railway between St. Anne and St. Joachim.

NO FORCED "CONTRIBUTIONS."

Civil Service Commission Will Protect Clerks from Assessment.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—From present indications the civil service commission will be busy with investigation of cases of assessments for political purposes for some time to come. Speaking of the prevalence of these charges Commissioner Roosevelt said: "We have had more trouble on account of these cases this year than in any other year during which a presidential campaign occurs. Under the decision of the attorney general we cannot proceed against those persons who solicit by letter. However, we will publish broadcast what is being done, and guarantee to employes that they need not pay one cent. If in any way molested, we shall try to have criminally prosecuted those who molest these employes.

"I want to say that no man in office, whether Democrat or Republican, is under any obligation to contribute to a campaign fund, and cannot be molested in any way by his superior officers for refusing. This assessment business is mere foul blackmail, and we intend to make war on it in every way possible."

Fall River Mills to Reopen.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Oct. 11.—The Manufacturers' association last night voted to open their mills on Monday next. This action is explained in a reply to the letter received from Mayor Coughlan setting forth the desirability of having the mills start, which states that the mills will be open to allow all persons so disposed to go to work at current prices, in view of the fact that much destitution is said to exist as the result of the closing of the mills. A statement to operatives is also issued stating that current prices necessitate a reduced scale of wages now, but if the margin of print cloths is favorable in sixty days from the date of starting up they will return to the schedule of wages paid previous to the vacation.

Charges Against Railroad Officials.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 11.—United States District Attorney Hall made an information before United States Commissioner McCandless, charging C. S. Wight, general freight agent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, with violation of the interstate commerce law. A warrant was also issued for R. M. Frazer, general agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railroad at Cincinnati, on the same charge. The informations were made at the direction of the interstate commerce commission. The allegation is that the defendants violated the law by discriminating in freight rates between Cincinnati and Pittsburg.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Oct. 11.—Frank Drew, a lumber cruiser of Crookston, returned from the Hinckley district yesterday, where for two weeks he has been searching for the body of William Murray, his brother-in-law. The searchers found the body, which was identified by a ring. During the search the unidentified bodies of thirteen victims were found. It is believed that many additional will yet be found, while not even the ashes of others who perished will be distinguishable.

WORK OF THE STORM.

Fifty Vessels Wrecked on New Foundland's Coast.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE PROBABLE.

Thirty Lives Lost at St. Pierre Miquelon Alone—No Assistance Could be Rendered the Shipwrecked Sailors from the Shore. Bodies Washed on the Beach.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Oct. 11.—A northeast gale of exceptional force swept over this island Tuesday night. The storm was very severe at St. Pierre Miquelon, where thirty lives were lost and great damage was done. A very heavy sea was running in the harbor. All the vessels at anchor there put out extra anchors and took other measures to outride the gale, but notwithstanding this the maritime casualties were many. Not less than fifty vessels dragged their anchors or parted their cables and were thrown upon the shore. Every effort made to keep off shore was fruitless, the gale blowing with such tremendous fury that even storm canvass could not be set. Some of the doomed vessels were thrown ashore in very exposed places, and the great seas, breaking over them, soon pounding them to pieces.

No assistance could be rendered the shipwrecked men from the shore. A number of them, who jumped overboard and attempted to reach the shore by swimming, were drowned, while others were swept into the sea by the waves combing over their vessels, and were not seen again until their bodies were cast upon the beach.

The wrecked vessels were part of the fishing fleet that had put into St. Pierre from the banks to repair damages they had sustained during the heavy storm of Sept. 30.

Altogether there were nearly 300 vessels at the port, not a single one of which escaped without sustaining some damage. Several of the fleet are missing, and grave fears are entertained that they foundered during the night.

Long Branch Hotels Wrecked.

LONG BRANCH, Oct. 11.—The storm damage here is great. About 100 feet of piling of the new iron pier was washed out. The bulkhead between the Brighton and Grand View hotels is badly wrecked. A cut of about twenty-five feet was made in the bluff on the east end property. About twenty-five feet of the West End hotel was blown off, and the old Oliver cottage adjoining was unroofed. So also were the cottages of H. H. Painter, of Washington, and E. M. Shaffer, of New York. Many bathing houses were washed out to sea.

Rescued by Life Savers.

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 11.—The three masted schooner Lurena Reed, of Somer's Point, N. J., Captain Morris Ingersoll, bound from Jersey City to English Creek, laden with coal, stranded abreast of the Ocean City life saving station, and will prove a total wreck. The crew took to the rigging as soon as the vessel struck, and were taken off four hours later by the life saving crew. A terrible sea was running at the time the vessel went on, and the lifeboat could not be launched until the storm abated.

Few Fatalities on New England's Coast.

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—The hurricane and rain storm which struck the New England coast during Tuesday night, and which passed over Boston yesterday, has gone to the northeast, and last night its center was just northeast of Portland, Me. The wind, which has veered to eastward, has only slightly decreased in velocity. Reports of damage to shipping are being constantly received, and the loss of property will be considerable, but only in a few cases have there been fatalities.

Four Drowned Near Oyster Bay.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Oct. 11.—Four persons were drowned by the sinking of a barge in tow of the tug Belle McWilliams in Lloyd's harbor yesterday. SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 11.—A special from Jermyn, a small town north of Scranton, says that the heavy rains have wrought thousands of dollars' worth of damage there. The streets were flooded, and trains on the Ontario and Western railroad were delayed for hours. No loss of life is reported.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Oct. 11.—Early in the morning during the prevalence of a terrific gale, the large brick chimney of Mr. T. B. Kerr's house, on Chestnut street, was blown down and the debris fell through the roof upon Miss Mary Kerr. She was extricated but died soon after from her injuries.

I had been doctoring constantly with no relief. I bought one bottle of South American Nervine, which did me more good than any $50 worth of doctoring I ever did in my life. I would advise every weakly person to use this valuable and lovely medicine; a few bottles of it have cured me completely. I consider it the grandest medicine in the world." EMINENT CATHOLICS CONFER.

The Archbishops Recognize the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—The annual conference of the archbishops of the United States was held yesterday at the residence of Archbishop Ryan, of this city. Cardinal Gibbons presided, and there were present nearly all the prelates who have attained the dignity of the archepiscopacy. These were Archbishops Ryan of this city, Corrigan of New York, Williams of Boston, Feehan of Chicago, Elder of Cincinnati, Ireland of St. Paul, Chapelle of Santa Fe, Kain of St. Louis and Hennessy of Dubuque. The absentees were Archbishops Gross of Oregon, Riordan of San Francisco, Janssens of New Orleans and Katzer of Milwaukee. Archbishop Janssens was represented by Bishop Fitzpatrick.

The conference was conducted with the utmost secrecy, and at its conclusion the prelates were not disposed to talk. It had been understood that several questions of much importance to the church of America were to be discussed. Archbishop Ryan, however, stated that the conference had considered only matters of discipline, but added that they had decided to recognize the Ancient Order of Hibernians as a most admirable society.

In the evening the prelates were the guests of the United Catholic Total Abstinence societies at a banquet at the Continental Hotel, at which were present distinguished men in all walks of life.

After the interview Senor Castelar declared that the audience had convinced him that the pope could do much to promote international peace.

THE NEW YORK THUGS

Outdone by the Uniformed "Preservers of the Peace."

WITNESSES BOLDLY THREATENED.

One Officer Declares That He "Will Lay for Them Some Dark Night"—Policeman Accused of Picking Pockets—Interest in the Game of Policy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—For the third time since the Lexow investigations commenced Chief Counsel Goff yesterday produced evidence to show that threats have been made to put an end to the witnesses who have appeared before the senators conducting the examination. Samuel Kaufman, a tailor's salesman, was the first witness called during the day. He gave the substance of a conversation which he claimed took place on an elevated railroad train just after Policeman Corcoran left the witness stand on Monday. Corcoran was alleged to have asserted that he would "make those witnesses as dead as a door nail," and that he would "lay for them some dark night." The witnesses supposed to be referred to were Quinn and a friend. By those persons Corcoran was accused of being a "clubber." The police man with Corcoran had advised him not to talk so loud, and told him to wait until the Lexow committee had finished its investigations before making the attempt.

Patrick Kelly, an iron worker, related a story of going to sleep on the street. He was awakened by a policeman going through his pockets. The name of the officer, he thought, was Thorow. He accused the policeman of abstracting fifty cents, but the officer only laughed at him, and pushed him along, telling him to "move on." He reported the matter to the police station, and he asserts that a day or two after this he was assaulted by the policeman, who finally arrested him. He was fined $5 on the testimony of the police. Since the Lexow investigations had commenced the captain of the Eighty-eighth street station had sent for him, he alleged, and told him that there was a job waiting for him at the station. He did not go to see the captain about the matter.

Veron H. Brown, the general agent of the Cunard line, admitted that he had paid $10 weekly to the officer in charge of the Cunard wharf, but he claimed that he had never paid additional sums of money to the police.

John H. Lemon, a young man who attended the French ball, testified that Superintendent Byrnes and a number of of police officials were present at the ball. They did not make any protest against the lewd conduct of the persons assembled there.

William H. Jamouneau, president of the Alvin Manufacturing company, testified to paying Detective O'Connor $100 for the recovery of stolen goods from the pawnbrokers.

Vincent J. Majewski, who conducted a policy shop, testified to the tribute exacted by the police. Majewski explained that there were seventeen or eighteen backers in the city, and that they arranged with the police for the territory they should work. All the backers except Cornelius B. Parker were in the combine at the present time. He was working alone, but was not allowed to have any shops on the west side. Asked who had that territory Majewski replied, Al. Adams, "the king." Letters were read which are alleged to have passed between Majewski and Police Captain Westervelt. In these letters there were constant references to the dangers of exposure by the newspapers.

Majewski was troubled by opposition policy shops which did not pay tribute, and fake letters of complaint were mailed to Superintendent Byrnes, but no attention was paid to the complaints. Majewski claimed that four of the policy shops complained of were still running.

The investigation closed for the day with an examination of Lieber Freeman, who claimed that he visited "Silver Dollar" Smith to secure immunity from arrest for his brother-in-law, Joseph Frankel, a Hester street saloon keeper. A man named Solomon claimed to represent Smith, and $200 was finally paid to secure the release of Frankel from prison. The arrangement was that Smith should find bail, but he secured a discharge for Frankel. The money was raised by Max Rosenchweig, and as Smith did not procure the bail, as arranged upon at first, Rosenchweig has brought suit in the city court to recover $200.

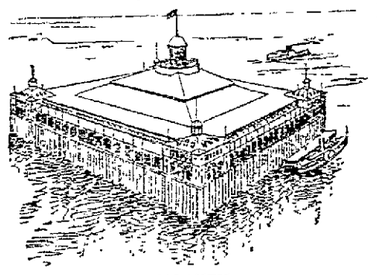
A NATION ON STILTS.

PROGRESS OF THE SCHEME FOR AN ARTIFICIAL ISLAND.

The Projectors of the Plan Seem to Be In Earnest In Their Purpose to Erect a New Atalantis In the Ocean—How They Are Proceeding.

Atlantis as figured forth by Ignatius Donnelly may be a myth, but Atalantis as projected by some New Yorkers may prove a fact. If so, it will be a unique fact, indeed nothing less than an artificial island about 11 miles offshore and accessible by steamers in an hour and a half from New York city. It will be outside the jurisdiction of this or any other nation and will be a summer hotel, sanitarium and popular resort, will have—nay, already has—its own flag and will be altogether a puzzle for geographers, lawyers, custom house officers and engineers alike. All this will be if the plans of the enterprising projectors do not miscarry, and they some months ago made their location and began preliminary surveys and the drawing up of plans and specifications.

What they propose in brief is this: To begin where the water is comparatively shallow on what is known as the "cholera banks," 11 miles south of the Long Island shore and 17 miles east of the Navesink highlands, and there put down piles or immense hollow cylinders, as hereinafter described, and on that foundation build their great rink and casino entirely of fireproof materials. The location is away outside of any three mile limit which would give the United States jurisdiction. The proposition was greeted at first presentation with a derisive laugh, but now that the promoters have actually gone to work the question stands, Is the scheme practicable?



ATALANTIS.

Who are the projectors? Well, the three best known are Captain R. D. Evans of the United States lighthouse board, Captain Howard Patterson and Mr. C. M. Coen. From the window of their office in New York floats a blue flag, with a red border and a white star in the center, and another just like it floats from the staff on a buoy anchored on the Cholera banks, where the new Atalantis is to be. It is not just yet the flag of a new nation. It is certainly the flag of a new and original notion. Some weeks ago the projectors steamed out to the banks, and with brief ceremonies anchored a buoy and took formal possession of the neutral water and the sand bank under it, hitherto sacred to the much besung McGinty. And now says Mr. Coen:

"In the construction of a foundation we shall use about 900 sections of cast iron pipe, all 10 feet in diameter and about 1½ inches thick. These sections are bolted together by flanges upon the inside. The joints are machined and filled with jute and red lead for the purpose of making them absolutely water tight. Each cylinder, when completed, will be 158 feet long. In the first place, we begin to put the cylinders together in shallow water near a wharf or shore. These will be put in place by the established processes, bolted together, and the whole finally made firm by framework or How truss bracing. We shall dredge out the sand at the bottom of each cylinder till the weight of the cylinder sinks it sufficiently. Then the water will be pumped out, and the interior made solid with concrete. The top of the cylinders, or foundation of our buildings, is to be 38 feet above high tide, far above any tidal wave in this part of the ocean."

On this will be erected a large square casino, two stories high in the main and four in the towers. It will contain suits of rooms for hotel purposes planned with an idea to every convenience and to be furnished luxuriously; will have four large piazzas, four extensive public promenades, eight private dining rooms, kitchens, lavatories, etc. Steam heat and electricity for lighting purposes will be used in every room and department. The other building or buildings, for all sorts of picnics, conventions, pleasure parties, etc., will be on similar foundations and connected with the casino by bridges. The result, says Mr. Coen, will be to secure all the advantages of an ocean voyage without crowding or seasickness. And they say they will have it ready for use in the summer of 1895.

Sporting men say it would be an ideal place for a prize fight. It is also hinted that it is to supersede Monte Carlo, which is expected to close in a few years when the present franchise runs out. "And just think," says a brilliant criminal lawyer, "what a place for unwilling witnesses. An hour and a half trip, and there you are safe under the protection of a foreign flag. Then if a client gets into any little difficulty he can take a trip for his health out there and stay until the thing blows over. It's cheaper than Canada and more convenient—all the comforts of a home, you might say. I should say that one of the things Atalantis could get along best without would be an extradition treaty." But the projectors sniff at all such suggestions and declare that Atalantis shall be a place of law and good morals—no refuge for fugitives.

Women Voters on the Isle of Man.

For over 10 years certain women in the Isle of Man have enjoyed the right of voting. Married women do not vote. Widows and spinsters, being householders and property owners, do.

They turn Green

at the ball and heel—even some of the best black stockings. Wash them with Pearline, and you'll have the black color restored. Does that look as though Pearline would "injure the clothes?"

Things like these, hundreds of them, all more or less important, make Pearline the best thing to wash with. Then, on top of that, it saves labor, saves rubbing, saves wear and tear, time and money.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as," or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 433 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

MR. WILSON TALKS.

MY Name is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population.

I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has done pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much value, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as justified by the natural ability he may possess.

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find none until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago had decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's life—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy and secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. To me the photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end—and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

DR. CLARK WAS BAPTIZED.

Placed Under the Ban of the Quaker Church In Consequence.

Since the days of Elias Hicks the Quakers, as the Society of Friends are commonly called, have had so little trouble with heresy that the case of Dr. Dougan Clark of Earlham college, Richmond, Ind., excites special attention. The principles of the Friends are so clearly defined and so easily understood that any departure from them usually takes a man clear out of the church at the first step, and so there is no trial for heresy. It is worth noting that Dr. Clark is much the same sort of man that Hicks was—a man of austere morals and almost ascetic life—and that the besetting sin of such men is apt to be spiritual pride and excessive confidence in their own judgment.

DR. DOUGAN CLARK

Dr. Clark is 66 years old and a native of North Carolina, was educated at the Friends' school at Providence and at Haverford college, near Philadelphia, the largest Quaker college in the world.

He was graduated in medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, but in 1866 gave up the practice to take the chair of Greek and Latin at Earlham. He became one of the most prominent preachers among the Friends in the United States and in 1876-9 traveled abroad and studied the oriental languages. He was for a time editor of The Gospel Expositor and was practically the founder of the theological school at Earlham, of which he has since been the head. Last summer he astonished his friends and all the Quakers by asking for and receiving the rite of baptism at Damascus, O.

When interviewed by the elders, Dr. Clark said he had long believed that George Fox was in error on that point and felt it his duty to be baptized. The elders replied that baptism by the Holy Ghost, as taught by George Fox, was the only and true way in which a blessing could be bestowed by heaven, and that Dr. Clark had seriously offended. He was given permission to renounce his conduct and to make amends by true repentance, but the professor refused. Accordingly he was relieved of his pulpit work and the ban placed over him until his trial.

THE PARKHURST OF CHICAGO.

Career of Rev. W. G. Clarke, Who Is Distinguished by That Title.

Rev. William G. Clarke, pastor of the Campbell Park Presbyterian church in that city, has rather suddenly become famous enough to be called "the Parkhurst of Chicago." He dashed upon the gamblers and their allies without warning, yet with well matured plans and good legal backing, and, according to his enthusiastic supporters, has the evildoers on the run.

Mr. Clarke was born April 13, 1861—Fort Sumter day—in Adrian, Mich. His parents subsequently removed to New York city and thence to Chicago, where he joined the Presbyterian church at the age of 14. After a brief term at the Northwestern university and the Chicago Theological seminary he went to Princeton and was graduated at 22, being the youngest student to finish the prescribed course in social economy and political science. He then traveled a year, chiefly in central Europe, and took the pulpit of the Waukegan Presbyterian church. Later he was pastor of another church, and during a year's vacation traveled in eastern Europe, Egypt and Palestine, on which he wrote a book.

REV. WILLIAM G. CLARKE.

In 1888 he became pastor of the Campbell Park Presbyterian church and soon became noted for bold and eloquent preaching against the popular sins of the day. In 1890 he determined to investigate the evils of gambling, for which it was alleged that Chicago was the worst place in America, and with an efficient guide he visited the principal dives in the city. Meanwhile the so called Civic federation was formed to war against the city's worst evils, and Mr. Clark was made chairman of the subcommittee on gambling. He laid his plans like a general, employed four capable lawyers, neither of whom knew the others were employed, collected ample evidence with the aid of detectives, and then a general raid was made. It was a brilliant success, and "card sharps" fled the city by scores. He declares that this is only a beginning. "The only thing to be done now," he says, "is to keep a close watch and notify the police if they grow careless, and then to take extreme measures if they do not act on the warning."

Strength of Jack Frost.

No receptacle has ever been made strong enough to resist the bursting power of freezing water. Twenty pound steel shells have been burst asunder as though made of pottery.

CAST OUT,

the disorders, diseases, and weaknesses peculiar to women—by the prompt action of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a powerful, invigorating tonic, and a strengthening nervine. It brings relief for sleeplessness, backache and bearing-down sensations.

Mrs. CORA CUMMINGS

Mrs. CORA CUMMINGS of No. 74 E. Yates St., Ithaca, N.Y., writes: "I took your Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when I was run down and through the warm weather. It worked like a charm on my system and I am a good deal heavier in flesh now.

It is the best medicine in the world for 'female troubles,' for I took almost all kinds of Patent Medicines, and doctors' prescriptions without benefit. There is hardly a day [illegible] but that I recommend it to some of my friends."

UP THE MIDLAND.

Delaware County Politics—To Appraise a Water Right—To Rebuild the Rockland Creamery—Individual Communion Cups—The Spring Brook Trout Slaughter—Pulling Different Ways—A Good Investment.

—Delaware county, as is well known, is strongly Republican, and were it not for that fact Mr. Cartwright would have a hard job to pull through. Party lines are going to hang pretty loose in that county, this fall, on Assembly, and Cartwright and his friends will have to hump themselves if that gentleman ever goes to Albany as Delaware's representative. That county was well and ably represented by Mr. Gould, last year, and it was only through perfidy that he was not returned again, and this is the cause of a great deal of the opposition to the Republican nominee.

—In the case of Sipple against the Roscoe and Rockland Water Company, the Court has appointed as commissioners, Smith, of Monticello, Harding, of Thumanville, and Matthews, of Sheldrake. Their first sitting will be at Roscoe, Oct. 24th. These are all good, substantial men, and know what they are about, and a better selection could not have been made.

—Chris. Bunger, the New York milk dealer, and who operates several creameries along the O. and W., will, this fall, rebuild the one at Rockland. Mr. Bunger has been very successful as a milk dealer, and is deserving of it all. Those who deal with him know that their milk checks are on hand to a day, and right to a cent. Pity it is that there are not more like him in the milk business in New York city.

—The next move will be to "split up the communion table into kindling wood," said a devout christian up here as he read in this paper that the Rev. J. H. Gunning had abolished the old-fashioned communion chalice for individual cups. Individual communion cups will not take well with the majority of christians, and there are breakers ahead for would be reformers who will insist on their use.

—The redoubtable Seth Walley, late game protector, is giving the State Commissioners a great deal of trouble. The Commission chopped off Walley's head, but they seem to have much trouble to undo some of his acts. It seems that about the time Walley's head fell in the basket he, in his haste to make our fish laws still more odious, settled the case against the Spring Brook Chemical Company for fifty dollars. The sum was so absurdly small for the damage done that the commissioners refused to receive it, and the chemical company refused to take it back, and there the matter stands. Spring Brook is one of the finest fishing grounds in Delaware county, and when the acid refuse ran into it it killed all the trout for the distance of a mile or more, and yet this wholesale slaughter was condoned for the paltry sum of $50. That is fish protection with a vengeance, isn't it?

—The Livingston Manor fair met with bad weather after all. It would have proved a greater success if "old probabilities" had let it alone. The two ends of that town, Rockland, do not pull together to any great extent and are getting farther apart each year. For some years past the town has been about evenly divided politically, but it can no longer be depended upon in local elections. "There are razors in the air," and the new iron bridge at the Manor is the cause of all the trouble.

—Fifteen years ago and this section was full of croakers who could not see anything good in the O. and W. railroad, just because their towns were bonded in aid of the Oswego Midland. A great many of these old croakers are dead,—peace to their ashes. I defy any one to point to a single town its entire length, but that has already profited more than they were bonded for, and towns like Rockland and Hancock got their money all back in five years after the road was built, from bark and lumber alone. While it was probably a cold day for the farmers of Orange and Sussex counties, when the O. and W. milk train made its first trip through the Shawangunk Mountains, yet it must be conceded that as fast as its run was extended it made the cultivated land on all sides equal in value with land of the same degree of productiveness east of the "Shongum" range. To-day the Oneida farmer is paid as much for his milk as if he lived at Unionville, Monroe or Campbell Hall. I have not yet said a word about the summer boarding business that has grown to such enormous proportions as far west as the westerly boundaries of Sullivan and extending westward with each succeeding year. It would not be going too far to say that there is enough money left each year by the summer boarder, between Bloomingburgh and Rockland, to pay the entire bonded railroad debt of these four Sullivan county town if divided equally among them.

THE PRESIDENT COMING TO MIDDLETOWN.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge.

The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middletown, on one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

Wednesday, October 17th,

If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month Office hours from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION

By order Democratic County Committee.
W. H CLARK, Chairman.

The Republicans of the Eighteenth District, at Poughkeepsie, yesterday, renominated Jacob Lefever, of Ulster county, for Representative in Congress.

William R. Grace, after kicking and plunging for two weeks, announced, yesterday, that he would support Hill and the Democratic candidates for Congress and the Assembly.

A statement just issued by the Treasury Department puts the actual amount of money in circulation in the United States at $1,655,038,982, and figures out the circulation per capita at $24 07. This, in spite of the growls of the Populists, is pretty good when compared with other countries, the figures for which are Great Britain, $18; Germany, $17.50; Spain, $16; Austro-Hungary, $10; Mexico, $5. In 1888, the circulation was $13 78 per capita.

Saturday, Oct. 20th, and Saturday, Oct. 27th, are the days for registration in the country towns. Personal appearance before the Board of Registry is necessary on the latter day, but on the first day the lists are made up from last year's poll list, and names are added at the request of any citizen. A full registration is necessary to secure a full vote, and Democrats should put forth every effort to secure the registration of every Democratic vote.

Republican conventions are not consistent. At Goshen, Tuesday, the delegates were stampeded by "the old soldier racket," and went wild when they nominated Beakes for Sheriff. In this city, yesterday, the Republican Congressional Convention had no use for a veteran, for although Dominie Litchfield told how Victor A. Wilder had "fought, bled and died" for his country, he elicited only shouts of derisive laughter, and his man received but four votes out of 100. There is a deal of humbug in Republican love for old soldiers.

The true inwardness of the recent political eccentricities of William R. Grace was made public, yesterday. He has been using his State Democracy organization to advance his own political ambitions and offered to support Tammany's candidate for Mayor if Tammany, in the event of Hill's election, would agree to help him to succeed to Mr. Hill's place in the Senate. Tammany would not deal on such a basis and the State Democracy which, two days before, would have no one but a Democratic candidate for Mayor, has Col. Strong, with all his intolerant Republicanism, crammed down the throats of his unwilling followers, by the disappointed and malignant Grace.

The New York Tribune devotes a column to the nomination of Ben. Odell, the review of his political services and the recital of reasons why its correspondent thinks he will be elected. One reason is that knife making is dull in Walden; the other is that "wool-growing has also been a productive industry in this rich undulating county, admirably adapted to dairy farming and grazing, and the removal of the duties on raw wool has created dissatisfaction and excited alarm among the Orange County farmers." What rot! All the sheep in the county wouldn't furnish the voters with a chop apiece and as for wool, the county doesn't produce as much in ten years as Republican politicians pull over the eyes of their dupes in a single campaign.

The Democrats of Ulster county, yesterday, nominated Ira Black, of Rosendale, for Sheriff, and Jacob D' Wurts, of Kingston, for County Clerk.

The Republican convention in the St. Lawrence, Saratoga, Fulton and Hamilton district has taken 568 ballots for a candidate for Congress, each of which has resulted exactly as did the first ballot. St. Lawrence county has half the votes of the convention and its delegates announce their intention of standing by their candidate, Gen. Curtis, until the time for making nominations expires.

The nomination of Nathan Straus for Mayor by Tammany Hall distinctly improves the Democratic situation in New York city. Mr. Straus's practical benevolence has endeared him to thousands upon thousands of the people of New York city, and he will receive many votes that no other Democratic candidate could have secured. He is a man of highest character, familiar with city affairs and possesses great executive ability. He is hampered by no pledges, but if elected will give the city an out and out Democratic administration.

A Good Foundation Is Serviceable Underwear.

AND such is the only kind we have to offer. You may not feel the need of a change just yet, but still a change to a medium weight suit of underwear may be of more value to you than the money it might cost. Your health is all important. Again—Your last year's garments may be whole, and look as if they would last you through this season, but the warmth is washed out and ironed out. Although the bulk may be there, it will not protect you like a new suit.
How much are suits of underwear? We'll tell you this much. Single garments from twenty-five cents up. We handle only such lines as experience has taught us are the best. The best is none too good to place next to the skin. Would you call to see them?

HYMENEAL.

Stratton—Wilkes.

The residence of Mrs. Josephine C. Wilkes, No. 101 East Main street, is the scene of a social event of more than ordinary interest as this paper goes to press, this afternoon, being the marriage of her only daughter, Miss Delle Josephine, to Mr. Frank Melvin Stratton.

The ceremony took place at 4 o'clock and was performed by Rev. David Evans, rector of Grace Church, of which the bride is a member. There were present about 175 of the friends of the contracting parties.

The parlor and sitting room had been tastefully decorated with evergreens, smilax, palms and chrysanthemums.

When the guests had been seated and the hour for the ceremony arrived, Mr. W. J. Stevens sat down to the piano and began playing a wedding march, and then the bride and bridesmaid, preceded by the ushers, passed through the hall into the sitting room, where they were met by the groom and his best man.

The happy couple took their places in front of a bank of evergreens in the bay window, and the beautiful and impressive marriage service of the Episcopal service was read by Rector Evans.

After receiving the congratulations of friends a wedding supper was served by Caterer Hasbrouck.

The bride's dress was of white corded silk with train and trimmed with Dutchess lace. She wore a veil and diamond ornaments and carried a boquet of white roses. She is a beautiful young lady, but never looked more charming than in her bridal costume.

The bridesmaid was Miss Fannie M. Corwin. Her dress was of white silk with lace trimming. She carried pink roses.

Mr. George H. Iseman acted as groomsman and the ushers were Messrs. W. L. Millspaugh, T. Ed. Hayes, Gilbert Beebe and Ralph D. Stratton.

The groom's gifts to the best man and ushers were scarf pins in the form of an enameled wreath set with pearls. The bride's present to her bridesmaid was a marquise ring set with diamonds and pearls.

It is seldom that a bride receives a greater number or handsomer or more valuable presents than did Mrs. Stratton. Among them is an elegant banquet lamp from Mr. W. B. Welde, a friend of Mr. Stratton, in New York; a decorated china dinner set, from Mrs. W. D. Stratton a silver set from Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Drake, and diamond ear rings, from Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stratton.

Among the guests present from out of town were the following: Mrs. S. H. Cottrell, Mrs. Barber and Miss Fitch, of Elmira; Mr. Augustus Hayes, Miss Lila Stewart and Miss Tremper, Kingston; W. B. Welde, Mrs. Cuthill, Benj. Polhemus and Frank Florence, New York; Mrs. E. G. Stoddard and Misses Edith, Nellie and Elizabeth Stoddard, of Mountaindale; Miss Carrie VanWormer and Mr. Herbert Dolson, of Port Jervis.

The bride is one of Middletown's fairest daughters, who is deservedly popular with all her acquaintances.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stratton. He is a popular member of the Bachelor's Social Club and Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company. He is engaged in business in New York, being a member of the real estate firm of Stratton & Stevens at Nos. 1 and 3 Ann street.

Mr. and Mrs. Stratton will leave town for New York on Erie train 8, this evening. They will be absent about a week and will then begin housekeeping in Mr. Stratton's house on Wisner avenue, which he has furnished for his bride.

Ayres—Horton.

The residence of Mr. James H. Horton, on Monhagen avenue, was the scene of an interesting wedding, last evening, when his daughter, Miss Josephine was married to Mr. John Ayers.

The ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock, by Rev. B. H. Burch, of Newburgh, in the presence of about forty of the intimate friends of the contracting parties.

The bridal couple during the ceremony stood under a huge floral horseshoe.

The bride's little brother and sister acted as pages, the little girl carrying a basket of flowers.

The bride was dressed in ecru faille Francaise, trimmed with lace and ribbon.

The presents were numerous and valuable.

Mr. and Mrs. Ayers left town on an early train, this morning, for Boston and will be absent about two weeks.

The ARGUS unites with other friends in congratulations and best wishes.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Rails for the Electric Road—Hop of the A. O. H.—The Registration of Voters.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—Teams loaded with rails for the Goshen division of the electric road are a familiar sight going through the streets and the time when the first car runs from here is anxiously waited for by our citizens.

—Goshen Division, A. O. H., will hold one of their pleasant hops at St. John's Hall, Wednesday evening, Nov. 5th.

—The first day of registration of voters will be held in the different districts, Saturday, Oct. 29. Democrats should see that their names are all on the poll list.

IN ANCIENT GOSHEN.

Some Local and Personal Items—An Owl Whose Vocal Cords Needs Lubricating—The "Quiet" of the Country—Dull Foliage but Bright Sunsets.

—Mr. G. B. Horton and family, who have been occupying the Pierce house on South street for several months, have removed to the St. Elmo Hotel. It is reported that Mr. Pierce and family will soon return to Goshen.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moshier left, on Thursday, for Montclair, N. J., where they will spend the winter.

—Mr. F. L. Duryea, of Newark, N. J., is spending the week with relatives in Goshen.

—Miss Clark, of Plainfield, N. J., is the guest of Mrs. Robert B. Clark at her home in this village.

—An owl, whose internal mechanism is conspicuously in need of oiling, has been serenading the inhabitants of South street o' nights for some time.

—Speaking of serenades is there any thing much more exasperating in the way of a rest disturber than the matutinal rooster. Any one who has been disposed, for one reason or another, to be restless at night and has spent the weary, wakeful hours in listening to duets between the Erie freight trains and the early daybreak there is a lull in these pleasing sounds when one might possibly fall asleep, if it were not for bold chanticlere who, like other gossips, is anxious to proclaim his news before he is quite sure of the truth of it himself. Possibly little Dame Partlet on the roost beside him, admires him and thinks that no other rooster could herald the dawn in such clarion tones, but even she must feel at times that she would like her morning nap undisturbed. To every one else in the vicinity he is an unmitigated nuisance. Hark! how another and still another takes up the refrain until the whole neighborhood rings with it and the sleepless one, with a faint recollection of Roman history, wishes that all roosters had but one neck that it might be rung with one fell twist. At last the much heralded day appears and one rises with a feeling that, whatever it may have in store for one, it cannot be much worse than the night's experience.

—Nature's palette is filled with rather somber colors this fall, the leaves showing only dull browns and reds where more gaudy tints are generally seen. But the brilliancy that is lacking in the foliage is visible in the evening skies that have been unusually beautiful of late. The year is dying somewhat sadly, but every time that the sun leaves the heavens the memory of his splendor lingers in the west that glows and blushes at the recollection of him long after his departure.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost petrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan 55 W. Harrison st., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from all opiates or dangerous drugs.

A "CHRIST'S HEAD."

An Ohio Photographer and His Model Have Created a Sensation.

The good, bad and indifferent people of New London, O., are alike greatly excited over the display of a series of "Christ's Head" photographs just copyrighted by Photographer H. W. Minns of this city, for which a somewhat eccentric schoolteacher named Elmer Ellsworth Masterman posed. Some of the more sensitive and piously inclined declare themselves as inexpressibly shocked that any human being, especially one of their own neighbors, should have posed for so sacred a subject. Others defend the photographer and his model on the broad and liberal ground of art and artistic effect.

Masterman, the subject, is a Mason and an Odd Fellow and has a striking personality. He is tall, spare, angular and awkward in his movements. His long red, shaggy, flowing hair and red unkempt whiskers, beard and mustache give him a leonine appearance. He is 32 years old, single and lives upon his father's farm on the outskirts of New London. His father is a German and his mother an Ohioan. His brother is cashier of the Gibsonburg bank. During the World's fair Masterman had charge of the waterfowl exhibit and contracted a severe cold. By the advice of his physician last September he let his short hair and beard grow in order to avoid pulmonary troubles.

"Had you any scruples or compunction in posing for so sacred a subject as the Saviour?" Masterman was asked.

"No. Why should I? What is the difference between posing for a photograph and posing for a painting? The paintings of the great masters are looked upon with admiration and pleasure, and no questions are asked as to who posed. Why should I be so criticised and persecuted because I chose to pose as Christ in the pictures which have raised this storm? I felt perfectly free in doing so and care nothing for the criticisms of men. I feel that if the act was sacrilegious Christ and the Almighty would not have led me to such success. I was urged by Protestants and Catholics to pose for the subject, but the first suggestion came from a Jew. If it was such an awful thing to do, I think that the Almighty would have prevented it."—New York Sun.

COMMUNION FOR ONE.

Growth of the Sentiment In Favor of Individual Chalices.

J. W. Davis, deacon of the Fourth Baptist church of Philadelphia, was in the city yesterday to see the workings of the individual communion cup services at North Baptist church. The fourth church of Philadelphia is one of the oldest in the Quaker City, and when the news of the innovation in church custom reached the members they at once became interested and decided that if it was such a good idea for them it ought to be reported it. Dr. Andrews, a prominent member of the Fifth Baptist church of Philadelphia, made an analysis of the dregs in the communion cups and discovered microbes and disease germs to be plentiful. He was convinced that a change from the old system was necessary and in a conversation with Mr. Davis said:

"The individual cup idea is a most excellent one, and it is surprising to me that the Christian church has not taken it up before. Since the innovation has been introduced it will become international in its scope, and hardly a civilized nation in the world will be without it. It is a wonder to me that the physicians of the country did not recommend this before to the people, for the old system is an evil that should be corrected."

The Fourth Baptist church is not only the first church to take up the movement in Philadelphia, but also in Pennsylvania. A paper which is published in the church has contained several columns on the subject, including all that was in the Rochester, New York and other papers. Many of the people in the congregation have grown enthusiastic on the subject, and the feeling became so strong in favor of it that early in the summer they decided to have one of the deacons come to this city to investigate the system. Deacon Davis was selected because he was one of the most conservative members of the church and had not been carried away with the reports of the innovation. He came here to criticise the matter, but he is highly pleased with what he saw yesterday morning.—Rochester Herald.

Plates Made Out of Stamps.

The writer had heard of stamp plates, but had never seen any before yesterday. There were six on exhibition at the fair—white porcelain plates, with scalloped, lacelike edges. Stamps had been dissected and applied to these in all sorts of ingenious devices. Sometimes the heads of 2 cent stamps were placed in a circle around the center, with little flourishes between made of the numbers, while the bordering of the stamps made sprayike decorations. Stamps of all denominations were used and of all colors, but so cleverly were they managed that considerable examination was necessary to recognize the component parts of the familiar stamps. These plates must be a great deal of work to do, and they look as if water would ruin them, but they are ingenious and pretty.—Worcester Spy.

Cigarettes Well Placed.

The keeper of the monkey house in the Jardin des Plantes, at Paris, has for some days past been puzzled by seeing his monkeys smoking cigarettes. The wits of Paris declare that some learned professors were just about to issue an exhaustive paper on the subject of monkeys and tobacco from the earliest times, when the keeper solved the mystery. He lay in wait near the cage and at last caught some boys, who had taught the monkeys to smoke and came every day to give them lighted cigarettes. The boys have been taken to the police station, and the professors' studies have been relegated to the waste paper basket.—London Globe.

AGAINST CREMATION.

A New and Interesting Argument Presented by Sir Francis Haden.

It cannot be said that cremation has gained many converts during the last few years. In spite of the one great argument adduced in its favor—namely, that earth burial is insanitary—people have gone on burying their dead in the old way. The hygienic objection to earth burial has been ignored rather than combated—in fact, many intelligent people who would still insist on the old mode of burial in the case of their own relatives would nevertheless admit that the contention of the cremationists rests on a basis of fact.

But in an address the other day at a meeting of the British Institute of Public Health Sir Francis Seymour Haden took issue with the cremationists on that very point. He declared in the strongest language that earth burial, if properly conducted, can never endanger the health of the living, and carried the war into Africa by asserting that cremation is itself insanitary, and therefore so serious a menace to the public health that it ought to be prohibited by law. The earth, he maintained, is the one great purifier and renovator. There resides in the soil the chemical power of forming new and innocuous combinations out of the poisonous and miasmatic substances buried in it. Not only that, but the earth needs to be enriched by the restoration to it of dead matter, whose substance was drawn from it by the protoplasmic energy of life. So that, if all the effete residuum of the world were to be burned, the earth would soon be deprived, according to Sir Francis, of the chemical elements that support life, and all life would cease.

It would perhaps be the wisest course for outsiders to let the distinguished English scientist and the cremationists fight this question out, as indeed in all likelihood they will. It is pertinent to observe, however, that it is not the purely speculative question that it may seem to be at first. It has a practical application as well. If the contention of Sir Seymour Haden is true, then the system of burning garbage, so frequently advocated and in many cities adopted, is unwise, for it is destroying valuable nutrient elements that ought to be returned to the soil. On the same theory the practice of throwing the garbage into the sea, in vogue in this city, is even more vicious, so far as its effect on the soil is concerned. As will be seen, therefore, the question here raised is one of the greatest practical interest and importance and should be carefully considered by all cities that contemplate the burning of their garbage.—New York Tribune.

NO RECONCILIATION.

The Dreyfuses Are Parted Forever, Says Gossipy-Know-Everything Cholly.

Edward Parker Deacon put to sleep all rumors of an impending reconciliation between him and his wife, who is said to be on her way to America with her mother, Mrs. C. H. Baldwin.

Deacon has written to a near friend in Newport that there is no prospect whatever of his ever seeing Mrs. Deacon again, much less of his living with her.

These are almost the exact words of Deacon's letter, written from Greenfield, Mass., on Sept. 28.

What is more, he authorized the recipient of the letter to make its contents known to the public through the press.

Deacon is now living in Greenfield with his daughter, and it may be depended on that he means just what he says.

Though a very quiet man as to his domestic affairs, he is also very determined, and it is probable that he would not make any such statement now if he had not been driven to it by repeated reports that a reconciliation is about to be effected.

The man who has nerve enough to kill his wife's paramour as Deacon killed Mrs. Deacon's French lover is not likely to become reconciled to the woman.

He may be generous enough to let her go her way in such peace as she may find, but he can never take her to his arms again.

The only instance of the kind in my knowledge is that of a well known and wealthy New York man, who is still despised for his action.—Cholly Knickerbocker in New York Recorder.

The Agony of Remorse.

Six cents, the smallest contribution ever made to the conscience fund, arrived at the White House a few days ago, and with it the following letter:

To His Majesty President Cleveland:

DEAR SIR—I am in a dreadful state of mind, and I thought I would write and tell you all. About two years ago—as near as I can remember it is two years—I used two postage stamps that had been used before on letters—perhaps more than two stamps, but I can only remember of doing it twice. I did not realize what I had done until lately. My mind is constantly turned on that subject, and I think of it night and day. Now, dear president, will you please forgive me, and I promise you I will never do it again? Inclosed find cost of three stamps and please forgive me, for I was then but 13 years old, for I am heartily sorry for what I have done. From one of your subjects.

The Pope's Monument.

One of the most celebrated Roman sculptors has now almost completed the sepulchral monument for the pope, ordered by himself. It is of Carrara marble. On the cover of the sarcophagus lies a lion, with one paw on the papal tiara. On the right is the statue of Faith, holding in one hand the Holy Scriptures and in the other a torch. On the left is the statue of Truth, holding the arms of the pope. Under the lion, on the face of the tomb, is a Latin inscription in large black letters.—London News.

The New Army Rifle.

The new rifle which has been adopted in the United States army weighs only eight pounds and will kill a man at a distance of two miles. With the use of smokeless powder it is said that the man would be killed before he heard or knew of the report. The bullet is to be of nickel or steel.—Hardware.

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

One Great Bargain.

It is or ought to be a pleasure to us to see other men happy, and therefore we feel certain that a rather unusual scene, described in the Fergus Falls Journal, will be enjoyed by all sorts of readers. A Dutchman came into the clerk's office, with a broad smile on his face, and asked for a marriage license. "An old Dutchman of about 50," The Journal says, but the word "old" must have been an inadvertence.

The paper was made out, and the German produced his pocketbook.

"Two dollars and a half," said the clerk.

"Zwei tollar und a holf. Mein gracious, but dot vas cheap!"

The clerk looked a little surprised. He had known men to grumble even at the cost of a marriage certificate.

"Yah, mein herr," said the happy customer, "dot vas cheap. For zwei tollar und a holf I gets me ein frau"—

"Yes."

"Und four shildrens"—

"Yes."

"Ein goot home"—

"Yes."

The clerk wished him joy and a long life, and he went away rejoicing.—Youth's Companion.

The Way It Acted.

A tailor named Sam Smith, from a country place, visited a large wholesale warehouse and ordered a quantity of goods. He was politely received, and one of the principals showed him over the establishment. On reaching the fourth floor the customer saw a speaking tube on the wall, the first he had ever seen.

"What is that?" he asked.

"Oh, that is a speaking tube. It is a great convenience. We can talk with it to the clerks on the first floor without taking the trouble of going down stairs."

"Can they hear anything that you say through it?"

"Yes, and they can reply."

"You don't say so! May I talk through it?"

"Certainly."

The visitor put his mouth to the tube and asked:

"Are Sam Smith's goods packed yet?"

The people in the office supposed it was the salesman who had asked the question, and in a moment the distinct reply came back:

"No. We have not packed them yet. We are waiting for a telegram from his town. He looks like a slippery customer."—Life's Calendar.

GENUNG STREET TRAGEDY

CONTINUATION OF THE CORONER'S INQUEST.

The Missing Cartridge Found in the Undertaker's Box, in Which Tierney's Body Laid—Little Doubt Left That It Was a Case of Murder and Suicide—Testimony of Witnesses.

The inquest in the case of John Tierney and his wife, who were found dead in their house on Genung street, Sunday morning, was resumed, yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

MRS. MORAN'S TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Moran, mother of Michael Moran, who spent most of the night at the house, was the first witness called, and her testimony was substantially as follows:

"I was called, Sunday morning, by Tommy McGuire at 6:30. I was up at 6. Tommy had come in and was sitting on the lounge beside her before she saw him. He said: "Oh dead! Mrs. Moran! My mother and John are dead!" He was in great sorrow and looked frightened. He kept his head hanging down; he was in such trouble. I did think it was strange that his head should be hanging down.

"I said, 'You must be crazy,' and he replied, 'Come and see for yourself.'

"We went in the kitchen door. No one there. Mrs. Doran was asleep on the lounge. Could hear her snoring. Mrs. McGuire was on the bed when I first saw her. Tommy came right in with me. He picked up the pistol and said: 'Damn you, 'twas you who killed my mother.' I considered he alluded to pistol and man both. He looked grieved and troubled. Never knew any trouble between them. They were always happy together. Could give no reason for his shooting her. She never told she was sorry she was married. She always spoke well of him. Tommy was there most every day after he'd left his home.

"Never knew anything wrong of Tommy. Michael, my son, hadn't been in the house all night, I think. When I saw him he was standing in the road. Don't know where he'd been."

MRS. ED. DORAN CALLED.

Mrs. Mary Doran, wife of Ed., was next called. She said her mother-in-law came to her house, Thursday. At 7:30, Saturday night, mother and Ed. went to Mrs. Doyle's and McGuire's. She went to bed at 10 o'clock. Had told Ed. not to stay at McGuire's because his mother was a noted drinker. They came home late. Heard her ask Tommy to get a pint of beer. I asked her if she met Mrs. McGuire's husband. She said yes and told her she was sorry she was married. The three, Tommy, Ed. and his mother, were all drunk, I had a glass of their beer while I was in bed. When Ed. wanted her to go to bed she wouldn't, and raised an awful racket. Finally I got up and told her to go away and come back sober.

"She disturbed the neighbors, something I never do. I told Ed. to take her away. He was so drunk he didn't know much. They went out. Tommy went out and went away with wagon. I don't think they went with him. Ed. afterward told me he didn't know whether he and his mother rode back to McGuire's or not. I have never been to the McGuire house but once. Never saw Tommy McGuire before. Ed. came back to the house about 7 o'clock. I said 'where have you been?' He answered, 'up to McGuire's.' I said 'is your mother there?' He said, 'get me a cup of coffee.' I got it, and told him to go to bed and not to Mt. Eve. He said he would. When he was going two young men drove up, and one said: 'My mother is dead.' I said, 'Who are you?' He said, 'Louis McGuire.' I said, 'what ailed her?' and he said, 'She married a man about a month ago, and they're both dead.'

"Ed told me they were all pretty full. I'm sure it was 6:15 when he came in. He was staggering full.

MICHAEL MORAN.

Michael Moran who sang Tommy to sleep was the next witness. He said:

"I went there between 12 and 1, Sunday a. m. I had been up town. I was half sober when I returned.

"Mrs. Tierney met me at the crossing, asking for Tommy. He came down in a wagon just then. I walked to the house with her. She invited me in to drink. She held the light for Tommy to unhitch the horse. We drank twice afterwards, and I went out the back door; no one was then in the kitchen. I went home. Heard loud talking at Tierney's. Mrs. Doran and Ed. were there, I would swear. There was quarreling between the mother and son over the girl he had married.

"We had several drinks. Tierney was not there. Between three and four I asked where John was. She said up stairs. I went up and called him. He was lying on the bed in his room. I asked him to come down and have a drink. He said all right. In ten minutes he came down in shirt, pants and stockings. Mrs. Doran was speaking to him in the barroom. He sat in the barroom on the table. Mrs. Tierney, Ed. Doran, Mrs. Doran and Tommy were there. He went back at 4 o'clock.

"Mrs. Tierney was perfectly sober. I did not discover any intimacy between Mrs Tierney and any one else. I never heard any jealous remarks between them. Tierney said that if Mrs. Doran didn't get any more drinks she would be all right. I left at 5:30. Tommy was on the sofa, Ed. was sitting in a chair, and Mrs. Doran was sitting in a chair. Mrs. Tierney was in the barroom. Mr. and Mrs. Tierney always appeared happy.

THEO. NATTERMILLER TESTIFIES.

"Theo. Nattermiller lives three doors from the McGuire's. Sunday morning the slats of windows were open at 5 o'clock when he went by; saw Tierney behind the bar; went on without speaking. Put his hands under the bar. Might have been washing glasses. At 6 o'clock walked by again; saw nothing. Young Will Doyle told him later that 'two or thre of them were dead up at McGuire's.'

"I found Tierney a very fine fellow. Saw 'Foxy' Ryan come out of McGuire's yard at 6 o'clock. When I went in Tommy was crying and raising the deuce. He pointed to John Tierney and said: 'There lies the man who killed my mother. If I'd caught him in the act I'd cut his head open with an axe. I'd kill him if I could.'

'They tried to wake Mrs. Doran up, and some one said: 'Don't, you might make her sick.' I looked at her and said: 'I guess you can't make her sick.,"

DR. W. E. DOUGLAS CALLED.

Dr. Douglas was next called. He told how death was produced in both cases. Tierney's wound was probed three and one-half inches and did not find the bullet.

Mr. Flynn said to him that "if the d-d thing hadn't come here, last night, this wouldn't have happened." (Meaning Mrs. Doran)

John Koch, a Hillside Cemetery grave digger, was called. He was at the McGuire house, Sunday night. He never heard of any trouble between them. Didn't know anything about the case.

LOUIS WITTEY CALLED.

Louis Wittey, nephew of Mrs. Tierney, said: "I stood up with Mr. and Mrs. Tierney when they were married. We've always been on good terms. It was a happy marriage.

His testimony was about the same as Tommy McGuire's.

He said she was insured for $1,000 in one of the company's here in town. She had told him a year or so ago.

WM. W. HARFORD'S TESTIMONY.

Wm. W. Harford was next called. He lives right opposite Fort Flynn. Heard no disturbance at night. He and Tommy had fired the pistol at a tree. Fired four or five times before he hit anything.

John Doyle said he knew John Tierney. Worked with him six years ago; also two months ago at Walden. I never saw the man mad in my life. Have had no conversation with anyone.

THE MISSING CARTRIDGE FOUND.

Patrick Reilly, of the undertaking firm of Dougherty & Reilly, said that he had found a cartridge in the box in which Tierney's body laid. Didn't find it when first searched. The cartridges in the revolver and the shells of those fired were then all examined. They were all of the same calibre and the one found in the undertaker's box had the same brand as four of those in the pistol. The sixth cartridge was of another make. Mr. Reilley thought the cartridge might have dropped from Tierney's clothes when he was undressing him. Tommy has only been in the place once; that was during the funeral, Tuesday.

The inquest was adjourned until next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

The 24th at the Rifle Butts.

The first platoon of the 24th Separate Company went to the new rifle range beyond Midway Park, this morning. A special car, with Capt. Rockwell at the motor, started from the armory at 8 o'clock. This afternoon the second platoon occupied the range, and to-morrow all members who failed to qualify will be given an opportunity to do so.

The Democrats of Sullivan county held an enthusiastic and harmonious convention in Monticello, yesterday, and nominated a strong ticket, which it is believed the people will ratify at the polls. William Canier, of Liberty, was Chairman. The ticket nominated is as follows:

For Sheriff—John M. Watson, of Neversink.

For Member of Assembly—Oliver Hofer, of Callicoon.

For Superintendent of Poor—Daniel Downs, of Thompson.

For Justice of Sessions—Andrew Glasser, of Fremont.

A TROLLEY FRANCHISE GRANTED.

Port Jervis Trustees Give the Use of the Streets to an Electric Road.

The Trustees of the village of Port Jervis, Thursday evening, voted six to three, to grant the franchise for building and operating an electric railroad in the streets of that village, to the company allied to the one that is to build a road up the Delaware Valley from Stroudsburgh.

The charter is not entirely satisfactory to the company. Work must be begun by April 1st, 1895, and three miles of road must be completed by Oct. 1st, 1895, and the entire line by April 1st, 1898, or the whole franchise will be forfeited.

After five years the company is required to pay the village one per cent. of its gross receipts and after ten years one and one-half per cent. must be exacted by the village.

It is very doubtful if the company will accept the franchise on these terms.
